Terrific Explosion.

By Cable and Associated Press.
ROME, April 23.—About 7 o'clock this morning a tremendous explosion shook the city to its foundations, spreading terror and dismay on all sides. People rushed shrieking from their homes into the streets, houses rocked, pictures fell from the walls, thousands of panes of glass were broken everywhere, crockery was shattered, furniture overturned, chimneys crashed down upon roofs and in some instances toppled over into the streets below. The cupola of the houses of Parliament, immediately after the explosion, shook violently and then collapsed with a crash which added still further to the feeling of terror.

The scenes in the streets and in the houses after this fearful explosion have possibly never before been equaled during the history of modern Rome. All thoroughfares were strewn with bricks, stones, splinters and other debris hurled there by the force of the powerful concussion. In houses doors, windows and cupboards burst open. Rents and cracks appeared in the walls. Plaster fell from ceilings and general destruction prevailed.

In many instances people were thrown from their beds by the shock, and cries of terror filled the air as thousands of families rushed out into the streets. Parents with their children in their arms, children leading aged parents, younger helping older, all made for the streets, as if their only chance of safety depended upon their being able to reach the open air.

The general opinion prevailed that Rome was visited by an earthquake shock and that the second shock might reduce the city to ruins. Many fell upon their knees and prayed aloud.

Finally, when something like order was restored, the real cause of the explosion became known. It was discovered that an immense powder magazine at Pozze Pantaleo, four kilometers from the city had exploded, and that it had caused an enormous damage to the neighboring fort which was filled with soldiers. Reports of the affair which have reached here are that, happily, the officers in command of the fort heard the rumbling sound, previous to the final explosion and hastily ordered the soldiers to leave the fort, and thus succeeded in averting a terrible disaster. As it was, several peasants who were in the vicinity of the scene of the explosion, were killed outright and several others more or less injured.

As this dispatch is sent King Humbert and his military staff, accompanied by the Italian Premier, the Marquis De Rudini, and by all the members of the Italian Cabinet left this city for the scene of the disaster.

Around the ruins of the powder magazine and fort a cordon of troops has been drawn in order to keep away the crowds of people who now, that the cause of the explosion is known, have flocked to the scene.

All the houses within a radius of a kilometer of the scene of the explosion are seriously damaged. The exact number of the killed and wounded is unknown at the present time. Two officers were dangerously wounded and fully 220 civilians were taken to the different hospitals suffering from wounds and bruises caused by the explosion. King Humbert used his own carriage to convey the wounded people to the hospital.

The races which were to have been run this afternoon were postponed on account of the explosion. The Vatican shook with the rest of the buildings when the force of the explosion was felt and several famous historical stained glass windows in the old buildings were shattered. The full amount of damage done is not known at present, but the loss is severe, the interior of many palaces and churches having suffered to a great extent.

Another report says five people were killed in addition to the large number already mentioned, and that forty small houses were reduced to ruins by the explosion. The magazine contained twenty-five tons of powder. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Riot Quelled.

By Associated Press.
SCOTTDALE (Pa.), April 23.—Latest reports received concerning the riot at Adelaide, a plant of the Frick company, last night is that none of the persons injured will die. Sheriff McCormack was badly wounded. He says but for the timely arrival of troops he and his deputies would have been killed. All is quiet to-day at Adelaide and no trouble is reported from other parts of the region.

Shortly after noon to-day Sheriff McCormack began evictions at Leisnering No. 3. While attending his duties a Hungarian woman named Glashko shot at him, the ball inflicting a painful flesh wound in the hand. The Sheriff grappled with the woman and wrested the revolver from her. The infuriated woman then secured an axe, and as the Sheriff persisted in his attempts to evict the woman she attacked him with the weapon, giving him an ugly cut in the foot. McCormack then drew a revolver and shot the woman in the leg. By this time a great crowd of strikers had gathered and one Hungarian man stood his ground and shot the man in the mouth. The deputies were gathered in a knot by this time and the evictions were carried through. It is not believed that anyone of the three persons shot are fatally injured.

LATER.—It is now said the wounded woman is fatally injured. The deputies have been forced to fire at the Hungarians, but none were seriously injured.

Worse and More of It.

By Associated Press.

St. Louis, April 23.—State Treasurer Stephens, who has returned from New York, when asked this morning about the published interview between himself and ex-President Cleveland in reference to the policy of Cleveland on the silver question, said: "I had not the slightest idea Cleveland would have any objection whatever to using being made of what he said." Stephens was asked if the reports that appeared were accurate. He replied: "Not by any means. I did not write a line of interview that appeared in the New York papers, nor did I see it after it was written until it appeared in print. It contained much that Cleveland said, but also much that he did not say, and if I had known just what its tenor was to be, I would have removed many embellishments. Cleveland did not announce himself as a candidate, but spoke as a private citizen. When I asked him what he would do in case he was president and a free coinage bill was presented to him, he laughed and turned the question by saying that it was a long time until 1894. I would prefer not to particularize mistakes in the account of my interview with him, further than to state if it had been submitted to me, I would have struck out one-half of it."

Fate for All.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Mark MacDonald, United States Commissioner from California, had a tilt with the Fair Management this morning. The upshot was, MacDonald left for home. The trouble arose over a resolution of the California Commission passed on April 17th in favor of a separate State display. It was received by MacDonald to-day and laid before the directory. The World's Fair officials object to separate State displays, as tending to make a series of State fairs instead of a harmonious whole.

Jewish Persecutions.

By Cable and Associated Press.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—The Official Messenger publishes a decree prohibiting any Jewish artisans or traders from entering Moscow and expelling those already residing there. The Czar wrote with his own hand on the bottom of the original document, a notice to the officials of Moscow for the decree to be carried out in every particular. It is stated a similar decree is projected for St. Petersburg.

The Raging Rivers.

By Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.), April 23.—Fears are entertained that the Arkansas river, which is rising rapidly, will overflow its banks and cause much damage to crops. Dispatches from several points along the Brazos and Navasota rivers in Texas say these streams are on the rampage and that much damage will be done in the low lands.

Fire in Chicago.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 23.—A can of gasoline exploded at noon to-day in the house of Theodore Karabrat, fatally burning Mrs. Mary Burnson and badly scorching the house in which it started, and a number of dwellings adjoining were destroyed, rendering a dozen families homeless. Loss, $50,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Forecast, light rains in northern California, except in the southeastern portion.

Strike in Detroit.

By Associated Press.

DETROIT, April 23.—The street roads were tied up this morning, and last night the rails were torn up in places on most of the lines of the city and barricades, blocks in length, were put up. The police department is totally unable to cope with the trouble, as the men are dispersed in crowds all over the city.

The company insist that they could run cars if proper protection was afforded them, as they have more than enough applicants to fill all vacancies. Employees of the Michigan and Detroit street car companies, who yesterday gave notice that they would not work to-day, are mingling with the strikers and encouraging the men in every way. While the street car company and its employees are thus trying to settle their differences the public suffer greatly, as there is no mode of conveyance. The strikers have the sympathy of the public, who, in many instances, when cars have been run since the beginning of the trouble refused to ride in them. It is expected there will be considerable trouble during the night, as the excitement is running very high among the men.

Gabriel Greely Married.

By Associated Press.

PLEASANTVILLE (N. Y.), April 23.—Miss Gabriel Greely, daughter of the late Horace Greely, founder of the New York Tribune, was married this morning to Rev. Frank Montross Clendenin.

The St. Joseph Protestant Episcopal Church, where the ceremony was performed, was crowded with well-known people of New York and other cities, as well as with residents of Pleasantville, Chappaqua, Horace Greely's old home, and the surrounding villages. Rev. Thomas McKee Brown of the Church of St. Mary the Virgin, in New York City, gave the bride away. The maid of honor was Miss Chamberlain of New York. Rev. Alexander McMillan, assistant at St. Peter's Church at Westchester, of which Clendenin is rector, acted as best man.

The business of the commission is practically finished, and this recess is taken to await reports of parties now in the field making the survey. Ex-Senator Davis of the commission says the project is progressing satisfactorily.

A Confidence Game.

Special to the Gazette.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—On the 9th of January, 1890, there was organized the Marysville Ditch Company, with an ostensible capital of $50,000. Directors—D. O. Daggett of Yuba county and L. Bawles, Henry DeVeune, J. H. Sayre and H. DeVeune Jr. of San Francisco.

About that time there appeared in the newspapers advertisements for a good man with $500 to go to the country as foreman and time-keeper. Among those who answered the advertisement was Henry Sutter, who put up $650 and went to Marysville, where he was put to work as foreman. He labored steadily for six months, but didn't receive a penny for his work. This morning Bowles was arrested for embezzlement on Sutter's complaint. He alleges that the whole thing is an extensive swindle and that a number of other victims will come forward.

President Pleased.

Special to the Gazette.

SAN DIEGO, April 23.—The President said in part: "Mr. Mayor and fellow citizens, I am a slave to railroad schedules and have but a few moments longer to tarry in your beautiful city. If there were no other reward for our journey across the continent, we have seen to-day about your harbor that which would have repaid us for all the toil and travel. It is with regret that we now part from you. The welcome you have extended to us is magnificent and tasteful. We shall carry away the most pleasant impressions, and shall wish for all that you anticipate in your largest dreams for your beautiful city." Governor Torres then read a dispatch which was received from President Diaz, presenting his compliments, to which the President replied.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION

The Carson Appeal takes the vulgar old cronies who want everything beautiful hidden from view, and do not want to see it themselves or have any one else, in the following editorial:

"A great outcry has been raised in Sacramento because the art class of the Crocker School of Design has exhibited a picture representing a nude female figure standing in water. The body is exposed from the hips up. The Bee reproduces the picture, which is a very graceful study of the human figure. Some old hens in Sacramento have proceeded to make an outcry against it, and pronounce it indecent. It is high time that the ravings of a lot of nasty old women against nude art be regarded merely as the frothings of lunatics. God made the figure of woman beautiful, and framed the eye of man to understand its beauties. The female figure was the crowning work of the Almighty and when He finished the labors of creation He left this legacy of loveliness to the world.

"Yet there are people so depraved that they see nothing but vulgarity in nude art. When Nature has stripped nearly all the meat from a woman's bones and dried up her stock of common sense, you hear her raving against nude art.

"We recall to mind the case of a woman in Omaha who tried to get the city council to pass an ordinance against nude paintings in the city limits, as she held they depraved the morals of the young. Before they had time to draw up the ordinance she ran away with a colored hack-man.

APPROPOS of the recall of the Italian Minister, Ex-Secretary Thomas F. Bayard is preparing an article for the May Forum on the power of the United States to enforce treaties violated within the State's jurisdiction. Though suggested by the present controversy with Italy, this paper will cover the whole ground thoroughly, and will refer also especially to cases that arose during Mr. Bayard's own diplomatic experience.

The same number of The Forum will contain an explanation of the new Commonwealth of Australia, which has just been formed, by Sir Roderick Cameron of New York, who is perhaps the best-informed man in the United States on Australian subjects, having been knighted by the Queen for eminent services to Australia by promoting trade with America. The new Australian Commonwealth is a matter of great pride to Americans, because in great measure it has adopted the Constitution and many of the political institutions of our own country.

SEDUCED by the prospects of vast exportations of beet-root sugar to this country, Germany announces that she will presently open her doors to the long-suffering American hog. Uncle Jerry Rusk is ready to throw up his hat and dance a saraband for joy at the victory which he claims to have been instrumental in securing. The pork packers, however, are not very enthusiastic, for they say that Germany will so embarrass her new concession by inspection measures that it will be of small profit. Let the German peasant make the acquaintance of American pork and he will not want any other. We may now expect France to follow in taking the embargo off American pork.

THE Evening News of Sacramento, Wells Drury's paper, comes to the GAZETTE this morning in an enlarged form, and with its head extended by two sideboards bearing the notice "Four months old to-day." It is neat in typographical appearance and full of newsy topics, while its advertising columns are well filled and give the paper a general air of prosperity. It speaks well for Wells and looks as cheerful as the smiling countenance, and the GAZETTE wishes it continued success and a wide margin of profit.

ENGLAND may have to kick up a fuss with some small Power, if only for the sake of keeping her Grenadier Guards in good humor. Nothing would stop their growling quicker than a little active service. In barracks they get fat, lazy and saucy.

CHEMISTRY OF THE SUN.

Mysterious Absence of Oxygen, Nitrogen and Chlorine.

In connection with the photography of the solar spectrum considerable advances have been made in the recognition of the chemical elements present in the sun. Copper, silver and vanadium have been transferred from the list of the doubtful metals there to certain; and very recently Rowland has found clear evidence of the presence of silicon, the apparent absence of which has been long a standing puzzle.

The evidence in favor of the presence of carbon also seems to gain strength, and the same is true in the cases of aluminum, cadmium and zinc. The fact that the lines which reveal the presence of silicon are almost entirely in the ultra-violet, invisible portion of the spectrum warrants the expectation that photography may soon find there evidence of some of the other still missing elements, such as boron, phosphorus and sulphur.

But no new light yet appears in reference to the mysterious absence from the sun of oxygen, nitrogen and chlorine, which play so important a part in the chemistry of the earth, except, indeed, that the results obtained by Janssen last summer on the summit of Mont Blanc are conclusive that the great "B" line of oxygen which is so conspicuous in the solar spectrum when the sun is near the horizon is entirely of earthly origin, and not in the least solar, writes Prof. Young, of Princeton, to the Youth's Companion.

The veteran astronomer, still enthusiastic and full of pluck, though unable to endure any severe physical exertion, had himself carried by a small army of guides and porters to the very summit of the mountain, and there obtained decisive observations.

As regards the "photosphere"—the luminous surface of the sun—and sun spots, there is little news to note. Janssen at Meudon has made real improvement in the processes of photographing the spots and the details of the solar surface, and recent observations of the displacement of the lines of the spectrum at the eastern and western edges of the sun made by Dunn, of Upsala, have confirmed the laws of the sun's swifter rotation at the equator—a law which, though first discovered more than thirty years ago, has recently been called in question. It still remains as much a mystery as ever how the great cavities, which we see as spots come to be formed in the sun's surface, why they are so limited to the two zones on each side of the sun's equator, and why they show such a regular increase and decrease in numbers every eleven years.

A QUEER FAMILY.

Seven Children Who Have Very Peculiar Characteristics.

AMUNSON (Pa.) dispatch to the Philadelphia Inquirer says: People in this locality claim to have among them the queerest family as to physical peculiarity in the whole country. Jacob Hiers, a farmer in moderate circumstances, has seven children. The oldest is sixteen, a bright boy, but having thirteen fingers and thirteen toes—seven on one hand and six on the other, his toes being similarly divided. Next to him is another boy, fourteen years old. As long as this boy is quiet no one would suppose he had any peculiarity, but the moment he opens his mouth to talk he loses all control of his hands, arms, feet and legs, and they jerk and thrash and kick around as if they were hung on wires.

The boy is as slow of speech as his limbs are active, and in answering a simple question it is no uncommon thing for his legs to have carried him a rod or more away before he is able to articulate yes or no. The boy does not seem to mind his affliction, and not only does not hesitate to respond or try to, when he is addressed, but is always ready to begin a conversation on the slightest excuse. He can be seen almost any day arguing with or explaining some point to some companion, who is kept constantly busy either in avoiding the involuntary kicks or blows of the boy's sprightly feet or hands or in following him briskly to keep the run of the subject.

The third child is a girl, who is a hunchback and a dwarf. She is twelve years old. A boy next to her is deaf and dumb. The fifth child has a bright red birthmark encircling her neck like a piece of red flannel. It is an inch and a half wide. The other two children are twins, three months old—a boy and a girl. The boy's head is covered with hair enough for a grown person, while the girl hasn't the sign of a hair upon the head, the little poll being as white and shiny as a billiard ball. The girl is fat and the boy lean. When the boy laughs the girl cries lustily, and when his little sister is merry the boy sheds tears and yells.

Every one of these seven children is handsome and mentally bright. Mrs. Hiers is a fine-looking woman, and her husband is sound physically and mentally.

A Two-Legged Calf.

A Kansas paper tells an interesting cow story. The cow in question recently lost her calf. After it died, she transferred her affections to the fourteen-year-old son of her owner, for whom she manifest a strange fondness. She licks him just as she would a calf, and no one but the boy can do anything with the dumb creature. The other day the lad had occasion to go to town, and as he remained away until after milking time, his sister put on a suit of his clothes and went into the barnyard and succeeded in deceiving the cow until she (the cow) happened to see the boy coming up the road, when she kicked the pail over and made a bound in the direction of the youth, showing the most unmistakable evidences of delight.

The Needle's Eye.

The above name is given to a subterranean passage on the coast of Bonfshire, one hundred and fifty yards long from sea to sea, but through which a man can, with difficulty, creep. At the north end of the Needle's Eye there is a cave twenty feet high, thirty broad and one hundred and fifty long. The whole of this passage and cave is supported by immense columns of rocks, making a grand scene which has a surprising effect on one who has crept through the narrow passage.

Head waiter (to favored guest)—If you like it, sir, I can fix it so you can eat dinner with Sarah Bernhardt. Favored Guest—Thanks; but I'd rather have an ordinary fork. The Riverside has white cooks and the best of meals.

Its Excellent Qualities. Command to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye, and to the taste, and by gentle action on the kidneys, liver and bowels, it cleanses the system effectively, and by promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Piles Can Be Cured.

Richard Bennett, Westfield, N. Y., writes: "For thirty-two years I suffered from piles, both internal and external, with all their attendant agonies, and like many others suffered from hemorrhoids. All those thirty-two years I had to cramp myself to pay doctors and druggists for stuff that was doing me little or no good. Finally I was urged by one who had had the same complaint, but had been cured by Braden's pills, to try his cure. I did so, and began to improve, and for the past two years I have had no inconvenience from that terrible ailment."

A Safe Investment.

In one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, a return of 100 per cent of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised druggists a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of Throat, Lungs or Chest, such as Consumption, Inflammation of Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping cough, croup, etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe, and can be depended upon.

AN AMATEUR DETECTIVE.

Not a Pinkerton, But Just as Successful as if He Had Been.

A group of old-timers were talking over the late robbery, when one of them related how he had been a detective, before the Pinkertons had established a reputation on this coast, and how he had led a case to a successful conclusion without any knowledge of what he was doing or what it was leading to until years afterward. The story, as told in his own words and duly authenticated, was as follows: In the town of Hamilton in 1869, Wells, Fargo & Co. moved their office from the old building adjoining Red Frank Wheeler's to the new brick built by J. R. Withington at a cost of $60,000. In moving their safes, the agent, George Crandall, concluded to have the combinations changed, and employed an expert to do the work. It was done in the old office at night and the safe was moved the following day. When opened, a sack containing $3,500, belonging to John Gray, the former agent of the company, was FOUND TO BE MISSING.

So was the expert who had changed the combination. All in the office were thunderstruck, as they had stood by and witnessed the entire operation, and how the sack could have been abstracted was a mystery. But suspicion pointed too strongly to that one person and his absence was corroborative proof. Three stage and fast freight lines were running from there to Elko, and at once the wires were set to clicking with instructions to arrest the party if found. He was caught there on the arrival of the stage the next morning, but he didn't have the money and simply denied it and declared his innocence. However, he was taken back, examined and committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury. He proved to be a celebrated criminal, but the most puzzling part of the matter was that he had no baggage, no confederates, exhibited no uneasiness, and as the old saying goes, he simply "sawed wood and said nothing." The money COULD NOT BE FOUND.

Persistent efforts were made to get him to confess, but he simply denied all knowledge. Nearly a month elapsed, when one of the other stage lines discovered a satchel in their Elko office that when examined was found to be empty. It was unclaimed baggage, but the proprietor suspected Tom —, a former employee, of a little crookedness. At this juncture of affairs I was in Elko on a visit, when one of the proprietors said to me, without any further explanation, "Dick, I must go to Sacramento to-night, keep an eye on Tom. If he starts away on any train you go along with him and tell him to return. He will do so if you catch him going, but if you watch him and keep close to him he will not go. When the express comes in from Virginia to-morrow morning if he gets a letter and finds you watching him he will go to my office and leave a check for a large sum of money. Follow my instructions and it will be all right." He left and I did as he told me, keeping close around Tom all the time and saying nothing yet, wondering a great deal what it all meant. I was present when the express arrived on the next morning, with an eye on Tom. He received a letter, put it in his pocket, and with a furtive glance walked out the door. I followed with an indifferent look. The train was just moving out past us.

TOM LOOKED UNEASILY. At it, and then at me. The train was out of reach in a few seconds. Then Tom turned with decision and asked me to accompany him to the stage office. I did so and he laid down a check and asked the agent to give him a receipt. It was soon written, though the agent knew not what it meant. Any more than I did. Tom took the receipt and walked off without a word of explanation and without an inquiry from us. A few days later the crackman was discharged from the Hamilton jail, and the case remained a mystery to me for many years. A year ago I met John Gray in the Palace Hotel in Reno and he told me that he recovered his money by giving an indemnifying bond to the stage proprietors, but he never knew where his money came from. I knew. The crackman had taken passage on one stage line and sent his satchel by the other to Elko in another name. Tom got the sack after it had lain some time unclaimed, and sent the money to Virginia City. When he was casually asked if he could remember when it came to Elko he got scared, confessed, returned it and was forgiven, but was promptly discharged. The crackman would never admit anything, but he skipped very quickly when he was turned loose.

Diphtheria in Virginia.

The Virginia Chronicle of last evening says: "The Board of Health held a meeting last night at the office of President Harris, all the members being present. The President reported that eighteen cases of diphtheria in all had been reported to the Board since the last stage of the disease. If the above report is true the malady has been prevalent to an alarming extent, and the general public, who heretofore have been ignorant of the fact, will no doubt be surprised to learn that diphtheria has been so rampant in our midst."

In view of the above facts it would be well for Reno to clean up the business, the out houses and garbage teaps wherever they may be.

Delegates Appointed.

Governor Colcord has designated the following gentlemen to represent Nevada at the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress, to assemble at Denver on May 18th: R. Ryland, of Washoe county; S. A. Kinsey, of Douglas; J. P. Woodbury of Ormsby; S. Webster of Esmeralda; J. A. Blossom of Lander; Chris Zabriskie of Esmeralda; N. H. A. Mason of Lyon; John S. Maybough of Elko; Alex. Wise of Humboldt; A. C. Cleveland of White Pine; Ed. Willet of Lincoln; T. J. Bell of Nye; Warren W. Williams of Churchill; E. Strother of Storey.

"SHENANDOAH."

Bronson Howard's Great Play at McKinnick's Opera House.

Realism on the stage has been the cry of the theater going public for some time past, and authors and managers have tried experiment after experiment in their effort to supply the demand. Bronson Howard bore this craving in mind when he wrote his war play, "Shenandoah," and the result is as might be expected from so ingenious a writer, one of the most perfect bits of realism ever witnessed within the four walls of the theater. It occurs in the third act when there is a gradual change from sunset to twilight, and then to the dense gloom of a starless night through which old Three Top Mountain, at the far end of Shenandoah valley, looms up like a giant shadow. Presently there is a stir of excitement through the Union troops quartered in the valley, for away up near the crest of the huge black mountains, may be seen the signal lights of the enemy telegraphing the news of the Confederate reinforcements. The perspective effect is really wonderful, for the signal lights seem to be at least twenty miles distant, when in a matter of fact, they are not much over twenty feet from the footlights. The illusion formed by such surroundings naturally adds a thrilling reality to the action taking place on the stage at the time, and makes the beholder forget that it is only a play after all. It is this charm of truth and nature that has been achieved for "Shenandoah," its splendid success. A run of one hundred nights is considered a long one for most plays, but "Shenandoah" passed its three hundredth performance at 23rd Street Theater, New York. The play is on a tour for the large cities and will also go to Europe where a long run has been arranged for by its managers. The company that appears at the Opera House for one night on Saturday, April 25th, is the original or home company. Seats for this great attraction on sale at Hodgkinson's drug store.

WADSWORTH NOTES.

A Flying Visit to the Busy Little Town.

A GAZETTE reporter took a run down to the busy little village of Wadsworth yesterday. He found the town in its usual prosperous condition. Donaldson & Babcock, proprietors of the Nevada House, are as busy as bees catering to the wants of an appreciative public and doing a fine business. Nichols & George are also busy supplying the wants of the traveling public. Charley Lewis is doing a fine business in the saloon trade, as is McLane and before the Grand Jury and left on the afternoon train for the west, but returned on this morning's train. The peculiar combination, proportion and preparation of Hood's Sarsaparilla makes this medicine different from all others and superior to them all in actual curative power. Sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. A new brand.—Bjinks—What is the new kind of cigarette you have? Bjones—It is called "Undertaker's Hope." Every time you take a puff it seems to be beating the flap of their wings. Go to Marcus Fredericks and get good cigars and cigarettes.

AN OLD-TIMER GONE.

Old Pancho, the Oldest Indian on the Pyramid Reservation Turns Up His Toes.

Old Pancho, the oldest Indian on the Pyramid Reservation, and Fremont's guide across the Sierra Nevada mountains in 1844, died at his wick-up on the Reservation on the 16th inst. of la grippe. Pancho left two sons, Captain Bill and Spanish Joe, both very old men now. Bill and Joe are the most thrifty farmers on the Reservation. Old Pancho led a very interesting life and a chapter from his mental diary would be very interesting reading, and the Gazette hopes to get a letter from Indian Agent Warner in a few days giving something of an account of Pancho's eventful career. The old man was 98 years old at the time of his death and as strong and vigorous as in his youth until throttled by deadly la grippe.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The Engineers and Mechanic's Library Association in a Prosperous Condition.

The Engineers and Mechanic's Library Association of Wadsworth held their annual meeting last evening and elected the following named gentlemen as officers for the ensuing year: President, G. H. Hunt; Vice President, James Alger; Secretary, Librarian, D. Horan; Treasurer, T. F. Moran; and the following Board of Directors: W. E. Hunt, A. T. Clipper and J. C. Schwartz. The association is in a very flourishing condition. The boys have over $200 in the treasury, are out of debt, and have their insurance paid for three years in advance.

Diphtheria in Carson.

Diphtheria has appeared in Carson, and one fatal case has occurred, Joseph P. Kilday, aged 14, dying of the disease last Sunday morning. The Carson papers claim the disease emanated from a late arrival from Virginia City, and cautions cleanliness and perfect sewerage as a preventative of the spread of the scourge. The holding of public funerals in cases where death has resulted from diphtheria is a poor way to prevent the disease from becoming epidemic, and is something not allowed by the Virginia Board of Health.

Jewish New Years.

Jewish New Years began last evening at sundown and will continue as a season of feasting and general jollity for a period of eight days. The only obligation imposed being the use of unleavened bread; otherwise it is a feast of all the good things in the market.

Secure Your Seats.

Don't forget the grand benefit concert to be given to Messrs. Evans and Roberts by the citizens of Reno on the 28th. Secure your seats at Hodgkinson's right away for the house is sure to be crowded.

There was a little king, a fiery little thing, and he put a little chip on his shoulder, and he contended up the Grand and took it off again, and said if he'd been bigger he'd been bolder. La Marsella cigars at A. Nelsons.

The Shenandoah troupe arrived from the east last night and went to Virginia City this morning. They carry their scenery and baggage in a special car, and the troupe comprises a fine looking group of ladies and gentlemen.

A GAZETTE reporter is celebrating his birthday. It is also the anniversary of the death of Shakespeare, but the one bears no relation to the other, though some may wish it signified the same thing. No cards, no presents.

Thos. C. Horn, who was held to answer in the sum of $1,000 for the faro bank robbery, yesterday gave bail for his appearance before the Grand Jury and left on the afternoon train for the west, but returned on this morning's train.

Struggling up Life's Ragged Hill. With youth, vigor, ambition and an indomitable will to keep up, is no such grievous matter, but tottering down again, afflicted by the ailments which beset old age—our backs bent with lumber, our elastic muscles and joints stiff and painful, is a fearful place of business. For the infirmities which the decline of life too often brings, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a beneficial source of relief, a mitigating solace always to be depended upon. No regulating tonic evolved by any medical discovery is so well calculated, so thoroughly able, but without undue stimulative effect, to help the aged, the delicate and the convalescent to recuperate the vitality of a frame which time and physical decline have impaired as his. Kidney and bladder weakness and disorder, constiveness, material complaint, dyspepsia, rheumatism, are among the bodily afflictions, which this sterling recuperant and regulator overcomes.
